- An additional school pass is not possible.

3. Security

General

In this chapter, we specify the measures the cardholder must take to securely store and use the school pass. The measures to be taken also depend on the circumstances, which vary and cannot be fully described in these terms. The cardholder is expected to take all conceivable measures to securely use and store the school pass, even if such measures are not explicitly stated in these terms.

When the following articles refer to 'others' or 'someone else,' this includes not only unknown individuals but also partners, children, family members, fellow students, friends, housemates, and visitors.

Storage

The cardholder must always securely store the school pass. The following rules apply, at the very least:

- Store the school pass in a way that others cannot see it.
- Store the school pass in a way that others cannot access it unnoticed.
- Ensure that others cannot see the school pass and its storage location (e.g., wallet) when not in use.
- Pay close attention to prevent the loss of the school pass.

4. Usage

Charging the school pass.

The cardholder can recharge the school pass with cash at the counter in the OLC and at the counter in the auditorium.

Paying / opening lockers / identifying oneself

- The cardholder can use the school pass to pay for copy and print commands, open lockers, and identify themselves. This can only be done at the Haarlemmermeer Lyceum in Hoofddorp, Netherlands.
- When the cardholder has paid for the copy and print command, the transaction amount is known before the cardholder gives consent to the Haarlemmermeer Lyceum to execute the copy and print command. The cardholder gives consent by holding the school pass to the card reader of the machine. The cardholder cannot withdraw the command thereafter. At the time of booking the copy and print command, the credit amount is debited.

Balance information

- The cardholder can check the balance of the school pass at a multifunctional/copier machine.
- During the copy and print command, the balance appears on the screen of the multifunctional/copier machine.
- The amount spent by the cardholder is deducted directly from the balance on the school pass.

Having oneself identified

The Haarlemmermeer Lyceum may ask the cardholder to identify themselves using the school pass."
